FOREWORD

■

Recognizing the significance and value of sporting competition to aeronautical development and progress for women in aviation, the Washington Women Pilots Association has again taken leadership by sponsoring the first annual women pilots air meet at College Park Airport on October 13-14, 1934.

The type of competition offered is one that will be equitable to the greatest number of participants and benefit aviation to the greatest possible extent.

It has as its purpose the encouragement of women sportsmen pilots in competition, with valuable trophies as rewards for the successful attainment of speed and skill.

A cordial invitation is extended to all qualified women pilots to participate in these unique events, not only for the trophies themselves, but for the profound effect this important phase of aviation will have upon the development of the utility aircraft.

ENTRIES SHALL POSITIVELY CLOSE AT NOON OCTOBER 13, 1934

Handicapping of ships will take place between one and six P. M. on October 13, 1934.

Kindly send picture and short history of self for publicity purposes.

The F.A.I. and N.A.A. Conventions are being held from October 11-13th; the women's meet brings to a conclusion a week of international aviation activities in Washington.

Headquarters, Roosevelt Hotel—double room, twin beds, bath, $4.00. All transportation furnished from airport to hotel.
